OPEN HOUSE AT YWCA BEGINS ITS 33RD YEAR

The 32nd annual open house membership program was held Friday evening at the YWCA, with Dr. Richard A. Arms of the Gettysburg College faculty reading a play. The youth choir from Florio's church, directed by Mrs. D. F. Slegel, sang a number of spirituals as the devotion for the program.

The YWCA today began its 33rd year of service to the county and community.

The more than a century and a quarter old structure housing the YWCA is one of the older homes in the community and one of the structures most nearly restored to its original appearance.

YWCA Since '25

The building some years ago lost its dormers and shutters, but more recently the YWCA, when they remodeled the building, restored it to its original appearance so that now No. 8 Lincoln Square appears as it must have been when Joel Danner and his bride bought it in 1834 and moved there for the remainder of their lives, and as it must have appeared when the crowds milled before it on the night of November 18, 1863, and called upon Abraham Lincoln, a guest at Attorney David Willis' house next door, to speak to them.

Danner's beautiful home became a Young Women's Christian Association building on October 24, 1926, at a formal dedication service.

The Gettysburg Times on Monday, October 25, 1926, had this to say: "A new and much desired institution has been added to those already possessed by Gettysburg as a town and community center of Adams County with the formal dedication of the Young Women's Christian Association at the association building Sunday afternoon."

Eulogized Mrs. Reinwald
"The building, for many years occupied by the late Mrs. Reinwald was formally turned over to the new organization at services Sunday afternoon by Donald Swope. The building and accompanying trust fund were accepted by Mrs. H. T. Weaver on behalf of the organization."

"The services were in charge of Mrs. Weaver and included two addresses, one by Dr. G. D. Stahley, who eulogized Mrs. Reinwald, and another one by Miss Ann Clark, secretary, rural communities of the national Y.W.C.A."

The YWCA received its start here from the Danner family, whose members were never members of the YWCA. The Danner family history starts with Joel Buchanan Danner who moved to Gettysburg from Frederick, Md., in 1823, and until his death in 1885 was a prominent citizen of the town, serving as clerk of courts and prothonotary by appointment in 1839. In 1842 he was elected prothonotary. He also served as a justice of the peace, as a county director of the poor. He and David Zeigler operated a carriage shop where the engine house is now.

He married his first cousin, Mary Juliet Buchanan, on October 29, 1829, and for the first

Six Killed, 3 Homes Destroyed, Many Others Damaged When Jet Crashes In A Residential Area

DETROIT (AP)—A British jet bomber on a combined good will and training mission exploded and crashed in flames in a residential area here Friday.

Six crewmen were believed to have died in the inferno. Three homes were demolished. Another dozen were set afire and at least a score more were damaged in the downpour of flaming wreckage and blazing oil.

Almost unbelievably, only two residents suffered serious enough injuries to require hospital treatment.

Plane Blows Apart

Trailing smoke and flame, the triangular delta-wing Vulcan roared tree-top high, clipping leaves and branches in an apparent desperate attempt to make the river.

But before it reached the water it blew apart with a tremendous explosion.

"It sounded like it would take

YORK SPRINGS' OLD CROSSING CRASH SCENE

Three persons were injured and damage totaled $500 when two cars collided at the York Springs intersection — once the scene of frequent crashes but relatively unheard from since the state spent more than $3,000,000 to build a bypass around it.

The accident occurred at 6:15 o'clock Friday night.

State police said Mrs. Roger Smith Hecklinger, 51, Baltimore, was driving west on the Hanover-Carlisle Rd. and failed to stop at the stop sign at the intersection of Route 94 with "old Route 15" through York Springs. The "new Route 15" — the Gettysburg - Harrisburg Rd., is the bypass around the town.

Three Are Treated

Police said Mrs. Hecklinger's car smashed into the side of an auto operated by Clair Phillips, 32, York Springs R. 2, which was proceeding south on Route 15.

Mrs. Hecklinger suffered a contusion of the left eye. Her husband, Robert Smith Hecklinger, 53, had lacerations of the nose and forehead. Phillips had lacerations of the head and right elbow. All were treated by Dr. William Flickinger, of York Springs.

The accident was one of two investigated by State police Friday afternoon. At 1:30 o'clock police said a jeep driven by John R. Tunison, 40, Fairfield R. 1, entered the Ortanna Rd. a mile north of Fairfield and rammed into the side of a truck operated by Joseph Henry Timmerman, 31, Gettysburg R. 2. Damage was estimated at $25 to Tunison's vehicle, $700 to Timmerman's. Timmerman was treated by Dr. James H. Hammett for a bruised hip and a laceration of the right leg.

Dr. Heikkinen To Be Lions' Speaker

Two Housewives Battle With Ax, Knife; One Dies

ONTARIO, Ore. (AP) — Two middle aged housewives fought viciously with knife and ax in a front yard here Friday and one of them died from a stab in the chest.

Mrs. Dorothy Hylland, 42, mother of two children, died moments after being knifed just above the heart, said Police Chief Walter Walker.

Walker said Mrs. Bertha Baldwin, 43, Mrs. Hylland's next door neighbor, signed a statement admitting the stabbing. She was held in this small eastern Oregon town today without formal charge.

The chief said Mrs. Baldwin told him she acted in self defense after being hit on an arm by the ax. "So far as we can determine, she's not hurt," Walker said.

Walker gave this account of the fatal fight: "Mrs. Baldwin had been drinking and she went next door to get her children, who were watching television at the Hylland house.

the roof right off the house," said a witness. "There was this terrible thunderclap and then the plane burst into a big ball of fire. The whole sky turned red."

The British Air Ministry in London said the ship was from the 83rd Squadron of the Royal Air Force Bomber Command based at Waddington Air Base near Lincoln, England.

Message Of Goodwill

Its captain, Flt. Lt. John Wiloughby Moore, carried a message of good will from the mayor of that city to the mayor of Lincoln, Neb., near headquarters of the U.S. Strategic Air Command.

The rest of the crew were not identified.

The area of the crash is one of two-story frame homes, a few blocks from fashionable Grosse Pointe Park with its large Lake St. Clair estates.

Exploding fuel tanks of the four-engine bomber sprayed a five-block area. A number of persons reported slight injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Ewald were in their home when a fragment of the plane plowed into it. Ewald, 72, managed to get out, but a stuck door trapped his 65-year-old wife. A neighbor, Michael Durkin, came to their aid.

Woman On Fire

"Mrs. Ewald was screaming for help," Durkin said. "She was on fire. Their dog was on fire too."

Between them, Durkin and Ewald freed the woman. She and her husband were taken to a hospital. The Collie dog, Lassie, was found safe, cooling her singed tail in a nearby canal.

STACKPOLE HAS THIRD VOLUME ON CIVIL WAR

General Edward J. Stackpole, prominent publisher of Harrisburg, has just written his third book on the Civil War. It is titled "Chancellorsville, Lee's Greatest Battle." Other books by General Stackpole, which were well received by leading historians, were "They Met At Gettysburg" and "The Fredericksburg Campaign."

The new volume, comprising 384 pages, makes excellent reading.

The following is how the author summarizes Lee's strategy at Chancellorsville:

"Fighting Joe Hooker, confident . . . even boastful . . . his Army of the Potomac in top fighting trim, had a masterly plan to envelop both flanks of the wily General Lee, the main blow to fall at Chancellorsville. Hooker's troops were deftly put in position ready to strike."

Decides To Attack

"Lee learned somewhat belatedly from his cavalry where they were doing. Lee promptly decided not to withdraw as Hooker hoped, nor to defend as Hooker expected . . . but to attack! Lee started Jackson on his side and the battle was on, the Confederates rolling up the federal right flank near Wilderness Church."

"Then Jackson was fatally wounded and the attack slowed. Hooker still had numerical superiority. His men were full of

Cardinals Urged To Elect "Teacher, Pastor Of Souls" As Roman Catholic Pontiff

By FRANK BRUTTO

VATICAN CITY (A) — Cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church today began the solemn ritual of electing a new pope.

Forty-eight of the 52 princes of the church, who will be closeted in secret conclave later today walked in solemn procession in red and purple robes into St. Peter's Basilica and prayed for Divine guidance in choosing a successor to Pius XII who died Oct. 9.

There, Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, French-born dean of the College of Cardinals, celebrated the "Mass of the Holy Spirit."

As the cardinals—nearly all of them created by Pius XII in two post-war consistories—prayed for guidance, there was word that the process for beatification of the dead pontiff would be started in the near future.

"Pastor Of Souls"

In an exhortation pronounced by Msgr. Antonio Bacci, the Vatican's expert, they were urged to elect a pope "who is a teacher, pastor of souls and father to all people."

Fifty-two cardinals are her for the conclave but four infirm members were absent from today's mass.

These were Thomas Cardinal Tien, exiled archbishop of Peking; Joseph Ernest Cardinal Van Roey, 84, of Belgium; George Cardinal Grete, 86, of Le Mans, France, and Carlos Carmelo Cardinal de Vasconcellos Motta, 68, of Brazil.

Importance Of Task
With bowed heads, the princes of the church listened to Msgr. Bacci's exhortation that underscored the importance of their task (Continued On Page 7)

TOWNFOLK SEE FLOAT PARADE FRIDAY NIGHT

Several thousand Gettysburgians Friday evening witnessed the annual float parade held by the students of Gettysburg College and found the students, as usual, had spent hours of work to produce ingenious floats of almost professional perfection.

Paper napkins and chicken wire were the basis for the floats — but the students had transformed those basic items into such designs as a huge and remarkable well designed skunk on the theme "We'll Skunk Muhlenberg" — in the game this afternoon highlighting the annual Homecoming activities.

There was a "Muleberger," and a duplication of the famous advertisement showing a dog and an old fashioned phonograph entitled "His Master's Voice." In the students' reproduction the dog was replaced by a mule, and the phonograph, obviously, Gettysburg College's football team.

Accidental Admixture
While individual floats in prior years equalled the quality of Friday night's presentation, the 15 floats, overall, this year, were the best ever made by the students, according to comments from the many spectators.

Gettysburg College's parade accidentally provided a parade for the Hershey High School students coming to Gettysburg to play Gettysburg High School.

Spectators on Carlisle St. were amused to find in the middle of the parade, dedicated to "Beat Muhlenberg," two buses from Hershey High labelled with signs "Beat Gettysburg." The Hershey High students also seemed to enjoy the position in which they found themselves and sang and shouted as they moved along with the procession. The buses had arrived in town and started forward when there was a gap in the parade and thus found themselves in the center of the procession.

To Pick Winners
When the parade reached Lincoln Square the Hershey students continued on to Gettysburg High School where they were later defeated 13 to 6. The college students halted with their floats at the square for the annual pep rally there and many of the hundreds of spectators on the square joined the college students in cheering for the Bulls.

This afternoon the students will hold a second parade at the college football field at which time the floats will be judged. At half time during the game the winning floats will be announced.

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

TEN YEARS AGO

Biglerville Students Select Officers: The first all-school elections were held in Biglerville High School with Oscar Spicer elected president; Janie Warren, vice president; Daniel Walters, secretary; Jack Orner, treasurer, and Ronald Alwine, auditor.

The newly-elected president also holds the office of president of the senior class and is a member of the B-H Times staff. Janie Warren is editor of the B-H Times.

Heretofore, members of the student council elected their own officers from those students belonging to the organization. This year the entire student body took part in the election in which senior high school students only were eligible for candidacy.

The members of the election board, which included one member from each class included Doris Lady, chairman; Donald Hollabaugh, Louis Kookken, Lucy Baugher, Clyde Coulson and Sally Shetter.

Muhlenberg Defeats Bulls: 32-20 in Hard Fought Game Here Saturday Before 3,500: A stout-hearted and game Gettysburg College football team battled the powerful, hard-hitting and rugged Muhlenberg College gridirers all the way before bowing 32-20 here Saturday afternoon before a homecoming crowd of nearly 3,500 fans.

All of Gettysburg's touchdowns were scored by Dwight Speaker, 160-pound speedster, two on aerial passes from Ross Sachs and the other on a beautiful 89-yard run-back of a punt in the first quarter which gave Gettysburg a one-touchdown lead.

Benders Observe 25th Anniversary: Approximately 100 attended a party Saturday evening at the Gettysburg Country Club in celebration of the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. Milton Bender, Carlisle St.

The couple was married a quarter of a century ago at the Bender cottage along Marsh Creek by the Rev. Dr. Charles Leitzel, then president of the New York Synod and uncle of the bridegroom. Mrs. Bender is the former Corrine Hoffman, of Hanover.

Weekend Tourist Traffic Attains Mid-Summer Volume: Automobile Traffic Sunday on the main highways through Gettysburg and the battlefield was close to mid-summer volume, state police of the Gettysburg sub-station and national park officials reported today.

An urge on the part of many people to take advantage of what might be one of the last perfect fall days before winter was attributed by officials for the heavy volume of traffic.

Mild weather, coupled with the unsurpassed coloring of the fall foliage on the battlefield, along the highways and in the mountains, was the incentive to many to "roll out" the family car for a Sunday trip.

An estimated 2,300 persons visited the battlefield Sunday. The Saturday total was estimated at 1,176.

Hanover Girl Bride Of Local Man Saturday: Miss Evelyn Bealing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bealing Sr., Hanover, and Elman Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Meader I. Williams, 228 Buford Ave., were united in marriage Saturday afternoon in S. Matthew's Church, Hanover.

Dr. Sloat New Head Of Photographers: Dr. C. A. Sloat became president of the Gettysburg Photographic Society at its October meeting after the resignation of Dr. Dunning Idle was accepted with regret. Dr. Idle soon will leave for Java to serve with the state department.

15 Named To College Roll: Gloria L. Ecker and Robert L. Shryock, both of Gettysburg, were among the 15 Gettysburg college students who were named to

Today's Talk

WORK—THE REMEDY

Often it is proved that work is the remedy to ease sorrow, to give incentive to a person, and for the mind to get a new grip on life. Work is medicine to the soul. Work will relieve tension, drive away all fear and worry—if you let it! Work is health. Work is life. It doesn't matter as to the form or shape of work. It's the honest labor is dignified and should be a matter of pride to every worker. The people who build America were workers. Across the uncharted miles to the Pacific Coast pioneers left foot tracks of their own blood. They tracked the way. They did not complain. They took hardship in its stride.

Yes, work is the remedy for an endless number of ailments and disappointments. It is the story of tired backs, and inward integrity, of dreams and of their final triumph. Work has its spiritual as well as its physical aspects. Where would our homes come from were it not for the money saved, and the home bought? Nothing "just happens." Work makes things happen!

Work does more than this. It creates a satisfaction on the part of the worker, and keeps giving him incentive and an unexpressed personal joy. People who work with others are the happiest. There are comradeship and interests that otherwise they would not have.

LIFE'S A CHANCE
Life, as it seems to me,
From start to end,
Is just a chance to be
Somebody's friend.

Not in ourselves we find
The joys we seek.

As others speak.

We shall have used life well
If at the end
A few our praise shall tell,
And call us friend.

LEESBURG, Va. (AP)—Arthur Godfrey escaped injury when his helicopter crash landed here Friday, but the two-place craft was wrecked.

County History

Great Conewago Families

By B. F. M. MacPherson

The historical and genealogical account of the Dickson-Henderson family, of Great Conewago Presbyterian Church, is continued at this time.

John Dickson, the son of James Dickson and his wife, Agnes Burns, and the grandson of Samuel Dickson, the emigrant, was married on Thursday, January 17th, 1793 to Jane Russell, who was, in all probability, the daughter of Joshua and Jane (Harris) Russell. John Dickson and his wife, Jane Russell, were the parents of the following children:—

1. Nancy Dickson — born Saturday, January 11, 1794 — married to Thomas Gorley on June 30, 1814, by the Rev. David McConaughy — Died February 23, 1847. Nancy (Dickson) Gorley (or Gorley) died at her father's house in Straban Township, this county, and is buried in the Dickson plot in Great Conewago Graveyard. The inscription on the stone marking her grave is as follows:—
"In memory of Nancy, consort of Thomas Gorley and daughter of J. Dickson. Died February 23, 1847."

Unmarked Grave
2. James Dickson — born Monday, September 28, 1795 — died February 25, 1875. In the "Star and Sentinel" for Friday, March 12, 1875, the death of James Dickson is noted, as follows:—
"Died, February 25, 1875, at his residence near Hunterstown, this county, Mr. James Dickson, aged 79 years."

Note: — Undoubtedly James Dickson is buried in Great Conewago Cemetery. If his grave was ever marked the stone has long since disappeared. It is reasonable to suppose, however, that his grave is in the burial plot of his father, John Dickson.

3. Hannah Dickson — born "on the Sabbath the 19th day of March, 1797" — married to James Gettys (second of the name) on May 14, 1821, by the Rev. David McConaughy — died July 7, 1833.

Hannah (Dickson) Gettys died at Athens, Tennessee, and it was some weeks before news of her death reached her family in this county. The following obituary notice appeared in the "Adams Centinel" on Monday, July 22, 1833:

Dies in Tennessee
"Died, July 8, 1833, at Athens, Tennessee, Mrs. Hannah wife of James Gettys, formerly of this town, and daughter of John Dickson, Esq., of Straban Township, this County."

Note: — According to family records Jane (Dickson) Gettys died July 7, 1833. The obituary gives the date as "July 8, 1833. In the majority of such cases the record kept by the family is the correct one.

4. Samuel Dickson — born Thursday, December 20, 1798 — died April 3, 1806.

5. Margaret Dickson — born Wednesday, August 27, 1800. Note: — Apparently Margaret Dickson died young, before 1804 for in that year another daughter was born to John and Jane (Russell) Dickson, who was also named "Margaret."

6. John Dickson — born Thursday, August 19, 1802 — died ... (?)

7. Margaret Dickson — born Saturday, June 25th, 1804 — married to Robert McLennany on Thursday, January 5th, 1843, by the Rev. James C. Watson — died March 31, 1884.

Was Married Twice
Note: — Robert McLennany was born October 29, 1789 — died March 1856. He was first married to Maria Major, who died September 10, 1840. He was married, for the second time some three years after the death of his first wife, to Margaret, the daughter of John Dickson, Esq.

8. Jane Dickson — born Thursday, July 16, 1806 — died July 24, 1842 — married to Josiah McClure on March 10, 1830, by the Rev. David McConaughy.

The "Adams Centinel" for Monday, July 25, 1842, published the obituary of Jane (Dickson) McClure:

"Died, yesterday (July 24, 1842), at the residence of her father, John Dickson, Esq., in Straban Township, this County, Mrs. Jane, wife of Mrs. Josiah McClure, of Franklin County, Pennsylvania."

Jane Dickson McClure is buried in her father's plot in Great Conewago Cemetery, and the marker at her grave bears the following inscription:

"In memory of Jane, consort of Josiah E. McClure and daughter of John Dickson. Died July 24, 1842."

Twins Were Born
9. "The Twins were born on Thursday, June 16, 1809. The Son was born dead, and the daughter lived until the first day of September following."

Note: — The above is self-explanatory. John and Jane (Russell) Dickson were the parents of twins, a son and a daughter. Both are undoubtedly buried in unmarked graves in the Dickson family plot in Great Conewago Cemetery.

10. Sarah Dickson — born on the Sabbath, April 26, 1812 — died unmarried April 16, 1855. Buried in her father's plot in Great Conewago Cemetery. Her grave is marked.

Before concluding the notes on the Dickson-Henderson family there are a few additional items pertaining to the Gettys branch of the family, that should be included in this sketch. These notes were taken from the files of the "Adams Centinel" and are as follows:

1. Monday, November 28, 1853 — "Died, at Athens, Tennessee, on Friday, October 19, 1853, Margaret Gettys, wife of G. W. Bridges, Esq., and daughter of Mr. James Gettys, formerly of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church. She leaves her husband, two little daughters, and her father to mourn her loss."

Note: — The daughter of James Gettys, son of the founder of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, and his wife, Hannah Dickson, the daughter of John and Jane (Russell) Dickson.

2. Monday, January 22, 1855 — "Died, Athens, Tennessee, on December 12, 1854, at 9 o'clock A.M., of consumption, Mrs. E. J. Bridges, wife of J. L. Bridges, and daughter of James Gettys, formerly of this County. Twice in less than as many years has this been a house of death — two sisters, the wives of two brothers, have died from the same disease. Eliza Gettys leaves her husband and an infant son but a few months old. She was born April 12, 1841, and was aged twenty-one years, and eight months. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church."

Note: — Eliza (Gettys) Bridges was a daughter of James Gettys (second of the name) and his wife, Hannah Dickson, daughter of John and Jane (Russell) Dickson. She, Eliza Gettys, was married to a brother of the husband of her sister, Margaret (Gettys) Bridges.

This concludes the notes on the Dickson and allied families.

Membership Roll

During the early years of his pastorate at Great Conewago Presbyterian Church, which began in 1832 and ended in 1849, the Rev. James C. Watson, D.D., compiled a membership roll of the congregation. Over the years he made notations back of some of the names. This list, as copied from the original in the handwriting of the Rev. Watson, is as follows:

EYER CONVICTED IN L.A. MURDER

COVINGTON, La. (AP)—Delbert W. Eyer, 24-year-old Pennsylvania truck driver, was sentenced next week for the murder of a woman store clerk.

A 12-man jury Friday returned a murder conviction against Eyer. The verdict automatically carries the death penalty.

Eyer, of Shippensburg, a. was convicted in the pistol slaying June 23 of Mrs. Myrtle Jones Pichon at a variety store in nearby Slidell, La.

The defense announced the case will be appealed.

Eyer testified he shot Mrs. Pichon accidentally during an argument. He said he lost gasoline money for his truck in pinball machines but denied he tried to rob the store where Mrs. Pichon was killed.

Officers reported the cash register in the store appeared to have been tampered with, but the $19 it contained was intact.

Littlestown LEGION WILL HAVE SHRIMP FEED NOV. 7

The local American Legion post met Thursday at the post home, E. King St., and decided to order a new gas burner for installation in the home. The present heating plant does not operate satisfactorily, it was reported. Recent damage caused by it is covered by insurance, it was said, but necessitates cleaning the home. Members were requested to volunteer their services on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

Plans were furthered to sponsor a shrimp feed on Friday night, November 7 at the home. Arrangements are in charge of the house committee, Clyde H. Rohrbach and Norman Sentz, co-chairmen.

A contribution was voted to the Girl Scouts.

It was reported that Legionnaire John N. Sell is on the sick-list. Beaven F. Hanlon and Earl L. Stites reported on their visits to Legion post properties in nearby communities. It was decided to order four new tires for the community ambulance.

Announcement was made that the following committee will be in charge of the annual awarding of turkeys in November: Stewart N. Long, Beaven F. Hanlon, Albert J. Boyd, Clyde H. Rohrbach, Harold Messinger, Donald L. Bedford, Guy L. Conover and George C. DeHoff. The post will next meet Thursday, November 13.

Jaycees Hosts
The children of the community of pre-school age through grade eight will be guests of the Littlestown Junior of Commerce at a Halloween party next Friday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock in St. Aloysius Hall. Costume prizes in various categories for several age groups will be offered. Entertainment will consist of group games and contests. Refreshments will be served. The Jaycees committee in charge of arrangements consists of Emerson F. Muller, chairman, Paul F. Bolter Jr., Jay R. Crouse and Russell Abbott.

World Community Day will be noted at the October meeting of the Women's Guild of Redeemer's United Church of Christ on Monday in the church social hall at 7:30 p.m. Members are asked to take yarn, suitable for knitting garments or coverlets, or yardage of any size, weight or color, a project for the material relief of refugee mothers. The materials will be taken to the World Service Center at New Windsor to be packed for overseas shipment. Mrs. George I. Bemiller is chairman for the evening's program.

The Rev. William C. Karns, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, has announced that the annual thank-offering service will be held next Sunday, November 2, 10:15 a.m., under the sponsorship of the United Lutheran Women. The guest speaker will be Dr. D. L. Radsma, a native

Young Slayer Of Three Is Killed By Posse On Friday

LINCOLNTON, N. C. (AP)—A 28-year-old farmer killed his young wife, her sister and a neighbor woman with shotgun blasts, then was hunted down and slain by a posse in a wooded area Friday night.

Five others were wounded before Roy Cook was killed as he tried to shoot it out from a wooded creek bank in this hilly country 30 miles northeast of Charlotte.

Cook's head was injured in an auto accident three years ago. He had served a sentence recently for beating his wife, had a nervous breakdown while in prison, and spent about six months in the prison hospital.

"He's Just Mean"
Roy's mother said that before the accident he never caused her "a day of trouble in his life."

But Ambrose Hoyle, father of two of the victims, said simply: "He's just mean."

Killed were Rachel, 21, Cook's wife, apparently while running in a driveway at their tenant farmhouse about 13 miles west of here; Jeanette Cook, 18, her sister and wife of Cook's brother Wilbur, in a bedroom of her home about 200 yards away; and Mrs. George Smith, who rushed out of her home after Cook had wounded her 16-year-old daughter Marjorie. Marjorie had been dating Cook's younger brother.

Tracked By Dogs
A prison guard, Joe Godley, tracked down Cook with bloodhounds and was shot and seriously wounded in the hip. He remained in critical condition at a hospital here. Joe James, another prison guard from Shelby, was shot but less seriously hurt.

In his last ditch stand Cook wounded Lincoln County Sheriff Frank Heavner and a civilian, J. D. Williams, with a shotgun blast from about 10 feet away. Only Godley among the wounded was seriously hurt.

Montgomery's "Memoirs," a thick volume of 508 pages, has been bound, jacketed, packed and held in storage for weeks awaiting its "publication date," November 3.

Review copies were mailed to critics a month ago. Earlier, Life Magazine had bought "pre-publication rights" to lift juicy sections for a series of three, brilliantly illustrated articles.

Meanwhile, reviewers are ethically bound to withhold their critiques until after November 3. Accordingly, just as the present furor from pre-publication extracts dies down, the upper crust monthlies, weekly literary reviews and supplements will begin publishing their reviews of the "Memoirs" as a book. It is a well handled publicity campaign, moving faultlessly.

ALL THESE pre-publication excerpts have the effect of quoting Monty out of context. In the book, he lavishes unstinted praise upon General Eisenhower. Along with Churchill he considers like one of the greatest men of our century — except when his decisions were against Monty!

GENERAL EISENHOWER'S strategy was right. Montgomery's counter proposals were wrong. At the root of their difference are concepts of offensive warfare that are greater than any general.

For hundreds of years most English and French generals have responded to what strategists often call "the magnetism of a stubborn, hostile defense." Thus they frequently re-enforced heavily the subordinate general who was having the toughest going.

Years ago the American Command and General Staff College adopted a contrary rule: Never permit your reserve power in men and supplies to be drawn to and dissipated against enemy strength; but re-enforce heavily those forces that have found the hostile soft spots and are advancing rapidly.

Ike applied this well tested rule when Monty was stopped by German strength, Caen to Falaise. Thus Monty sadly saw Bradley's fast moving First and Third armies getting the added power for which he was begging.

Though the over-all success was terrific, Monty appeared to be dragging his feet. He has been bellyaching about it ever since. From practice he has evolved a well organized, persuasive apology by attacking the higher headquarters. The book's publicity handlers have made the most of it, though it is the volume's most threadbare section.

(Editor's note: Dr. Hill, who is also a retired major general, will review Montgomery's "Memoirs" in a forthcoming issue of the "Saturday Review," later than November 3.)

Let's Look At The Record

By JIM DAN HILL, Ph.D.
President Wisconsin State College

MONTY VS. IKE

Noisy Post-Mortem On Ike's Strategy Brings Much Publicity For Monty's "Memoirs"

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER and Field Marshal Montgomery toured the Gettysburg Battlefield last year.

Bumptious, critical Monty, who considers himself the greatest English speaking commander since Alfred the Great, pursed his thin lips. He opined both Robert E. Lee and George Meade "should have been sacked."

Old Soldier Ike, who carries professional courtesy to a fault, thoughtlessly agreed. He should have been more cautious.

Immediately, Ike had to live with the howls of injured pride that came from the sons and daughters of the Blue and the Gray. He is now having to live "Memoirs."

Yes, the emboldened field marshal, having enjoyed Ike's help in disposing of Generals Robert E. Lee and George Meade, is now publishing his post-mortem on Ike's own role as supreme commander, Allied Forces in Europe, World War II.

MONTGOMERY does not specifically write that Ike should have been sacked. He insists Germany should have been conquered within six months, instead of eleven, after D day in Normandy, June 6, 1944.

To achieve this happy result, all Ike had to do was to dump his own plans, adopt those Monty proposed and place Monty in command of the entire front to insure proper performance. Failure to do this prolonged the war and was "expensive in lives," Montgomery writes.

Viewed along and carried to its logical conclusion, this means Ike should have sacked himself in favor of Montgomery.

Needled by news-hawks, President Eisenhower's professional courtesy sagged but did not collapse. He said that back in 1944 he heard no predictions that the conquest of Germany could take less than twenty-four months.

He thus softly hints that Monty

Littlestown High School Wins Laurel Football Conference Crown

Thunderbolts Rally In 3rd Period To Beat Susquehannock 13-7; Capacity Crowd

A new champion in the Laurel Football Conference was born Friday night when Coach Wib Gobrecht's Littlestown Thunderbolts came through with a last period score to turn back Susquehannock 13-7 in a hard-fought battle before 1,500 fans on Memorial Field, Littlestown. Last year Biglerville and Susquehannock shared the title.

It is the fourth time Littlestown has won or shared Laurel Conference honors. They won in 1955, shared it with West York in 1957 and took the honors in 1949 when the league was known as the Little Six.

The Bolts were forced to the limit by Susquehannock which out-gained the Thunderbolts 263 yards to 168 yards and racked up a 15-6 bulge in first downs.

Littlestown's triumph was its sixth straight against one defeat and leaves the Bolts with a perfect 3-0 record in the circuit.

March 63 Yards

A 63-yard march gave the Thunderbolts their opening period score, the payoff being a 25-yard dash around left end by Ronnie Crouse. Wayne Garrett, fullback, had placed the ball in scoring position on an off - tackle slash which was good for 21 yards. Crouse place-kicked the point to make the score 7-0.

Susquehannock was halted by a fumble in the second period. Bob Sweeney punted out on the Littlestown 7 and the Bolts punted back with Russ Bowser returning to the Bolt 36. Ken Jacobs, Littlestown center, pounced on a fumble on the 25 to snuff out the threat.

Littlestown made a great goal line stand in the third period when the Warriors marched 46 yards to the Bolts' 10 but were stopped after gaining but one yard on three tries.

Warriors Tie Count

Bowser kicked out to his own 42 and this time Susquehannock was successful in its drive, scoring early in the fourth stanza to knot the score. A 32-yard pass, Frey to Miller, featured the drive. Sweeney finally went over from the seven and Miller booted the point to deadlock the count.

An aroused Littlestown outfit struck back to score just 1:40 minutes later. Garrett returned the kickoff 19 yards to the 42 as he was caught from behind. Garrett and Crouse moved the ball to the 33 after which the Bolts were set back to the 38 on a penalty.

Pass Brings Triumph

Garrett then fired a quick pass to Ed Knipple, end, who got free via a fine block on the part of Jack Ketterman and raced the entire way. Crouse's placement was low.

Susquehannock immediately took to the air. Crouse intercepted an aerial to give Littlestown the ball on the Susquehannock 20. After gaining but to the 15, the Bolts attempted a field goal but Crouse's placement from the 22 was low.

Susquehannock moved to mid-field as time ran out.

Littlestown attempted three passes and the only completion was for the winning touchdown. The Warriors completed four of 12 passes while two were grabbed off by alert Bolt defenders.

Next Saturday afternoon Littlestown meets Northern Joint at Dillsburg.

SPILLS MAR BIKE OPENER

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two cracks-up marred the opening of the International Bike Race Championships here Friday night.

Coming out of a turn, Harvey Phillips, riding for the British Empire team, tangled wheels with Tino Oriani of Italy and Theo Intra of Germany. Phillips, of Canada, suffered a shoulder injury and was taken to a hospital on a stretcher. Oriana had a badly bruised face and Intra sustained a gash on his forehead.

The other spill involved a Murphy of Toronto, Erwin Pesek of Chicago and Herb Weinrich of the German team. They were shaken up but continued riding after a rest.

The International team of John Tressider of Australia, Ward Van de Velde of Belgium and Heinz Weltroski, former German junior champ now living in Chicago, took a one-lap lead just before the finish of the first night's competition. The Italian and United Nations teams were second.

13 READY FOR $297,250 RACE

Associated Press Sports Writer CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—The old No. 3 oddity came up again today as 13 chippier 2-year-olds lined up in a scramble for cold cash in the $297,250 Garden State Stakes.

Bill Hartack, the young Pennsylvanian whose antics have sometimes alienated many racing devotees, was in a position to make some more history with No. 3.

Hartack was shooting for his third straight victory in the world's richest horse race on one of the dark horses, Black Hills, which carried the No. 3 on his saddlecloth.

The first four winners of the Garden State, Turn-To, Summer Tan, Prince John and Barbizon, all went postward with No. 3. Nadir upset the sequence with No. 4 last fall. Hartack rode Barbizon and Nadir.

C. T. Chenery's First Landing, winner of nine of his 10 races, remained the favorite at 7-5, with Fred Turner Jr.'s Tony Lee next at 3-1. First Landing has won five major stakes, and handed Tony Lee his only defeat in the $151,300 Champagne at Belmont Oct. 11.

Tony Lee won six straight out West, including four stakes, before invading New York.

Eddie Arcaro rides First Landing, while Willie Shoemaker will pilot Tony Lee.

St. Louis — Charls Liston, 212½, Philadelphia, outpointed Bert Whitehurst, 190, Baltimore, 10.

San Diego, Calif. — Monroe Ratliff, 185, San Diego, knocked out Tony Emanuel, 209, Los Angeles, 9.

EXPECT CROWD AT PRO GAME IN BALTIMORE

By DON WEISS Associated Press Sports Writer

The National Football League, a park packing operation even on a quiet Sunday, adds some feudin' and fussin' this time around—to the jingle of the coin boxes from coast to coast.

If stadium overflows are permitted under local laws in Baltimore and San Francisco, they'll have them Sunday when the Washington Redskins play the Colts at Baltimore's Memorial Stadium and the Chicago Bears meet the 49ers at Kezar Stadium in San Francisco.

They are feudin' and fussin' these four—the Colts with the Redskins because of remarks Washington owner George Preston Marshall made at a Baltimore luncheon, and the 49ers and the Bears because of complaints that NFL officials occasionally look the other way for Papa Bear George Halas.

"Wait, wait"

"Wait 'til we get you Sunday," was the Colts' reply after Marshall took outspoken exception to a Colt player's quip that the Redskins didn't give him train fare home when he was cut from the roster a few years back.

"Wait till we get you back home," was coach Frankie Albert's answer to the Bears' 28-6 whipping of the 49ers in Chicago two weeks ago.

There is a good deal at stake in each game, features of a full six-game NFL Sunday program. In the others, the Cleveland Browns bid for their fifth straight victory against the Cards at Chicago, the Detroit Lions meet the Rams at Los Angeles, the Pittsburgh Steelers challenge the Giants at New York, and the Philadelphia Eagles meet the Packers in Green Bay.

7TH FOREIGN HORSE IN RACE

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—The line-up for the $100,000 International race on Nov. 11 today acquired Revoque, a 3-year-old from Argentina.

The bay colt owned by Dr. Erwin Wasserman of Buenos Aires is the seventh from six countries aligned for the mile and a half race on the grass.

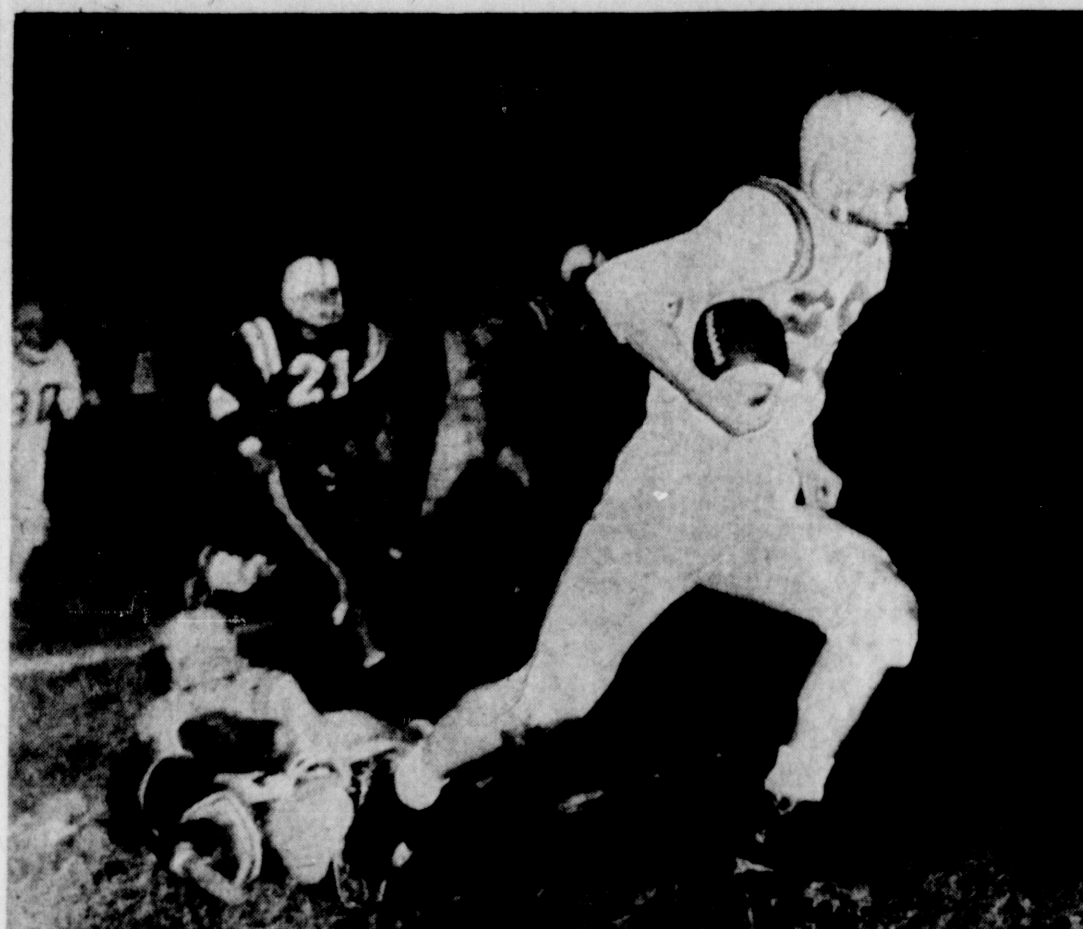

The other probable starters in the seventh International are Clem of the United States, Ballymoss of Ireland, Orsini of Germany, Sailor's Guide of Australia, Garny and Zaryad from Russia.

Revoque, his trainer Carlos Casalini and his groom Visitation Sosa, are scheduled to leave by airplane from Buenos Aires on Monday. That would land them Tuesday afternoon at Friendship airport near the Laurel race track.

Revoque will be the second Argentine thoroughbred to race in the International. Mister Black from the pampas land finished eighth in a field of 10 in 1953.

South America scored a sensation in the 1955 running when El Chama and Prendase from Venezuela finished 1-2. Both were born in Argentina.

Tucson, Ariz., under Spanish rule was a walled town until 1854.

In the upper picture, Ed Knipple, Littlestown end, is shown enroute to his winning touchdown in the fourth period as the Thunderbolts won 13-7 over Susquehannock Friday night to clinch the Laurel League title. Knipple had just received a short pass from Wayne Garrett. Jack Ketterman is shown on the ground after blocking out a Susquehannock defender who is pinned underneath him.

Lower picture shows the ball in midair, (directly in line with an official), after a pass was nearly intercepted by an unidentified Littlestown player, left, who clutched vainly after the ball escaped the Susquehannock player lying on the ground. ## Last Period Tally Gives Delone 13-7 Triumph Over Scrappy Lebanon Outfit

The Delone Catholic Squires continued their winning ways as they captured their fourth straight victory by defeating the Lebanon Catholic Beavers, 13-7, Friday evening on the Delone field before a large crowd who witnessed the Central Penn Catholic League affair.

Delone now sporting a 3-0 conference record and a 5-2 season record, played their first game of the season before the home fans, after traveling for their initial six contests.

Coach Tom Carr's outfit found the going a little rough as had been expected. Lebanon now carding a 3-2-2 season record held the Squires to short ground gains and few passes with little scoring all evening.

Sheaffer Goes Over

The home team got off to a 7-0 lead in the initial frame when fullback Pat Sheaffer bolted his way over from the one yard line. Glenn Livelsberger converted the placement. Most of the play during the first half was confined to the middle of the field. Delone fumbled and lost the ball just after the opening kick off. Lebanon came back and had two passes intercepted, the second leading to the Delone score.

In the second period both teams tried in vain to move the ball but excellent defensive work on the part of the two ball clubs plus the help of a few fumbles put a governor on ground gains.

The visitors broke into the scoring column with their only six-point of the game late in the half. After Gastley was forced to punt, the Beavers took over on their own 37. Short ground gains and a perfect pass from quarterback Tom Yingst to halfback Tom Loser covering 26 yards placed the ball on the Delone 7. Tom Fox moved the ball to the five followed by Yingst's run on the keeper play which resulted in a TD. Fullback John Miller went around right end to add the extra point.

From the start of the second half to the late minutes of the fourth frame both teams played a tough, tight brand of football with neither team making any headway.

Gastley Gets Clincher

Midway through the final quarter Don Arigo pounced on a Lebanon fumble to give the Squires possession of the pigskin on the opponents' 30 yard line. Dave Topper and Don Weaver advanced to the 19. Sheaffer and Gastley pounded away at the line to place the ball on the 8-yard line. From this point Gastley literally bolted his way off right tackle and into the end zone for the score. This time Livelsberger's attempt for the extra point was wide.

Johnny Gastley, a top notch halfback in this area, weighing 190 pounds and standing six feet tall, wrote another page in the football history books at Delone as he netted 60 yards to boost his net ground gains, for three years in high school, to 2,025 yards. This is only another reason why he has been acclaimed by many as one of the most outstanding football players in Delone's history.

Next Friday Delone will observe Parents' Night when they entertain Cumberland Valley on the McSherrystown gridiron.

Inspired Warrior Squad Topples Favored Hershey 13-6 In Thrilling Upset

Spearheaded by the bruising ball carrying of fullback Bob Furney, the brilliant ball handling and signal calling of quarterback Hardy Nichols, and a sensationally inspired line, the Warriors of Gettysburg High staged the upset of the season by defeating the Hershey High Trojans, 13-6, here, Friday night before about 2,200 fans.

Coach Ben Jones used a completely re-vamped lineup in a desperate attempt to find a winning combination and, needless to say, he was successful. Jones switched Joel Riddlemeyer from quarterback to end, installing junior Hardy Nichols at the QB slot. Nichols was sensational. He ran well, handled the ball beautifully, and made the utmost of the running talents of Bob Furney and Tommy Crist.

The first quarter was dominated by the Warriors, but they couldn't sustain a drive long enough to get deep into Hershey territory.

Capitalize On Fumble

About midway in the second period, however, Gettysburg made themselves a break and capitalized on it. With Hershey deep in their own territory, Riddlemeyer smashed through to nail Hershey quarterback Jim Price, force him to fumble, and then recover it to put the Maroons in business on the Trojan 15.

Furney smashed over guard for 5, and Crist circled left end to the two, before being brought down. Nichols promptly plunged into the end zone, and Gettysburg had a 6-0 bulge. Furney made it 7-0 with his placement and an upset was in the making.

Line Halts Trojans

Hershey drove to the Gettysburg 15 late in the quarter, but the Warrior line rallied, and forced a fumble, and the score was 7-0 at the intermission.

The third quarter was a standstill until late in the period. Hershey began to come to life, as Price hit end Pat Lauzon with two consecutive passes, that moved the ball to the Gettysburg 36. Stalwart Gettysburg line play, and a penalty forced Hershey to punt, however, and the Warriors had possession on four downs, and then they punted back to Hershey.

Halfback Jimmy Rippon carried twice for a first down, and Price then lofted a 59-yard aerial to Lauzon, and it was first down on the Gettysburg 7. Rippon picked up the seven yards in one try around end, and Gettysburg hearts stopped. Jim Bott's placement try never got away as the Warriors charged through to smother the try, and Gettysburg still had their 7-6 lead.

The inspired Battlefields weren't about to settle for a one-point upset, though, and, after receiving the ensuing kickoff, marched 75 yards in 14 plays to make it 13-6. Furney carried the brunt of the load in the drive, moving it to the 12, where Crist, again supplying the clutch yardage, carried to the one on a sweep around, and Nichols again sneaked over. Furney's placement was low, but none cared.

Gettysburg's score came with about half a minute of play remaining.

Hershey received the kickoff an immediately took

A Little Bit Of Freedom Creeps Warily Along With Kremlin On A Tightrope

By ROY ESSOYAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

The clammy fear of the mid-night knock on the door is gone from the Soviet Union, but the memory lingers.

A few years ago the average Russian wouldn't dare talk to an American on the street. Today an American can't step out of Moscow's Metropol Hotel without being besieged by Russians asking for everything from chewing gum to Glenn Miller records.

A block or two farther away the more serious ones fall into step. They'll ask you for American magazines or shirts.

In the last several months some have even started offering to buy American dollars. Even under relaxed Soviet laws they are risking Siberia. Or—you never know—they may be just testing you out.

Feeling Lingers
Many of the people who approach you just want to talk to a real, live American. They might even join you for lunch. Few will go beyond that.

Despite the Kremlin's protestations of peaceful coexistence and freedom for all, the people still have some of the feeling of the days when association with a foreigner was a crime.

"I think it's perfectly all right for us to meet now," one Russian told me, "but you never know. Things may change again."

"You never know," seems to be the present state of mind in Russia.

A Few Visit
A few Russians visited our Moscow apartment. Some wanted to see badly they didn't care about the militiaman (Soviet policeman) who guarded our door and checked out visitors 24 hours a day. You never knew if they were bold, or had reason not to worry. All of them wanted to read magazines, listen to records and talk about life in the United States, art, music and similar topics.

Earlier this year Komsomolskaya Pravda, guardian of youthful Soviet morals, denounced some young Russians for such associations. I saw one of them a few months later. Her head had been shaved, she had been kicked out of the Komsomols, the party youth organization, and was having trouble finding a job.

The charge: aping Americans, immoral behavior and giving out information.

Boomerang
Association with Americans, which the Kremlin has officially favored since Stalin's death, sometimes produces reverse results.

John Baker, a young American Embassy official, was declared persona non grata and expelled from the Soviet Union a few months after he started attending classes at Moscow University, and making friends.

That was called behavior unbecoming a diplomat. There was no other charge.

Some of the ordinary people talk with amazing frankness. They love their anecdotes, that amazing Russian safety valve that lets off steam with every turn of the party line.

Anecdote
One of the anecdotes describes the Communist type catechism Soviet children go through on entering the Pioneers, the kiddies' party organization.

"Who is your mother?" the boys are asked.

"The Communist party, for it takes care of all our needs," they answer ritually.

"And who is your father?"

"Nikita Sergeievich Khrushchev."

"And what do you want to be when you grow up?"

One aspires to be a factory manager, another a scientist, the third a football star.

Comes the turn of little Ivan. He too says the party is his mother and Khrushchev his father.

And what does he want to be? "An orphan," he replies.

Freedom Tightrope
The Kremlin is launched on a tightrope. When Khrushchev denounced Stalin 2½ years ago, he said, in effect: Let a little freedom grow.

A little freedom has a way of burgeoning.

In the last two years the little freedoms that the Russians won have been burgeoning only to be batted down again. So far they haven't been batted down to the level of Stalin's day.

But the Communist party is still in complete and unchallenged control, and it's not likely to anything that would jeopardize this control.

Tomorrow: Khrushchev the agile

EDDIE JACKSON BREAKS UP OLD "SCHNOZ" ACT

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"What's Jackson gonna do wit'out Durante?" sighed the Old Schnoz.

He referred to strutting Eddie Jackson, his show business sidekick of 43 years who announced Friday he was leaving the act to do a single.

Jackson told a reporter: "I got a feelin' Jimmy don't want me around."

Told of this, Durante replied, "That ain't true. Eddie's a second banana, he knows dat. He's still part of de act anytime he wants to come back."

Durante said the 63-year-old Jackson, in poor health recently, should retire. When Jackson took sick last year Durante replaced him with Sonny King.

"Eddie wanted to get outta his sick bed and come on at de Desert Inn (Las Vegas), but his doctor told me Jimmy, if dat guy comes on, he ain't gonna live." So I wouldn't let 'im."

"Don't Rap Jimmy"
Durante retained King even after Jackson got well and returned to the act. "I hadda keep up wid de times," Durante said. "You gotta have young blood. Who's gonna pay to see a couple of old guys like Eddie and me?" Durante is 65.

"After 43 years," says Jimmy, "you wouda taught the guy wouda come up to me and said, 'Jimmy, I'd like to try a single.' 'I wouda advised against it but if he wanted it dat way, I wouda said 'Okay, Eddie, try it, but the act always will be Clayton, Jackson and Durante.'"

Lou Clayton, the third partner, died in 1950.

Eddie had the last word, however. "Don't rap Jimmy," he pleaded. "He's one of the nicest guys in the world. He broke my heart but I still love him."

PITTSBURGH, Kan. (AP)—John Marietta and his son took a 1921 vintage fire engine into a field for a trial run. A broken fuel line caused a fire in the engine, and the flames spread to the dry grass of the field. The fire was put out with a hand extinguisher.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

The faith of the frail little lady gave her the strength and the courage to cross many oceans, the snowy peaks of the Andes, and to go down into the shafts with the miners. She came from Italy to America at the turn of the century to work among the immigrant miners and went on to establish schools, hospitals and orphanages on three continents. She established the Columbus Hospital in New York City, schools in Newark and the Bronx, a mission for Italian miners in Colorado, a settlement in New Orleans, an orphanage in England, schools in Nicaragua and the Argentine, as well as convents, homes, kindergartens and a church in other lands. Her name was Mother Cabrini. Now it is St. Frances Xavier Cabrini. On July 7, 1946, she was canonized the first United States saint.

CIVIL RIGHTS HEARING SET FOR DECEMBER

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Civil Rights Commission plan to hold a voting rights hearing in Alabama has brought a state official's charge it is politically inspired.

The hearing is set for Dec. 8 in Montgomery, the state capital.

It will be the first held by the commission since its creation by Congress last year.

The session may provide a key test of the commission's power to dig out information on complaints by Negroes and others that they are being denied the right to vote.

Records Refused
Acting on advice of Alabama Atty. Gen. John Patterson, officials of the Macon County Voter Registration Board earlier this week refused to allow commission investigators to examine its records.

Commission Vice Chairman Robert G. Storey was asked whether the Macon County records would be subpoenaed. Storey, dean of the Southern Methodist University Law School, replied it would seem to be necessary to have the full record dealing with the controversy.

In Montgomery, Patterson—who is the Democratic nominee for governor—said the commission announced the hearing to "create an atmosphere to get some Republican votes in the coming congressional elections." These elections will be held Nov. 4.

He's Determined
Meanwhile, E. V. Livingston, chairman of the Macon County Registration Board, said he was determined to withhold records from the commission "until Mr. Patterson tells me to do otherwise."

In other actions at its meeting Thursday, the commission authorized:

1. Further investigations of alleged denial of voting rights in Mississippi and Florida.

2. A preliminary survey of a similar allegation, this one based on national origin, in a Northern state which Commission Chairman John A. Hannah refused to identify.

3. A fact-finding hearing on housing, to start in New York Feb. 2. Commission officials said this was not based on any complaints.

REDS RESUME ATTACKS ON QUEMOY ISLES

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Communists resumed their artillery attacks on the Quemoy islands Friday after an unexplained 23-hour lull.

The Nationalists, equipped with eight-inch howitzers and other guns brought in during the two-week cease-fire, hit back.

The Red guns, silent since noon Thursday, started blazing again at 11 a.m.

The Communists first directed their fire against Little Quemoy and the nearby Tan islets, then extended it to Quemoy, largest fortress of the Nationalist offshore islands.

Shops Opened Briefly
Associated Press correspondent David Lancashire reported from Quemoy that with the halt in the Red attack Thursday, Quemoy City had come to life for the first time since the cease-fire ended Monday.

Shops opened and streets filled with civilians and soldiers. A wedding party with a brass band blared gaily past.

At the first new explosions, shutters went up hurriedly and the street crowds hurried to shelter.

Nationalist quarters claimed that Quemoy's defenders since Monday have inflicted more punishment than they have received. They said the island's guns had destroyed 43 Communist guns, blown up 12 ammunition dumps, destroyed a motor pool housing 45 trucks and smashed one gun emplacement.

York Alderman Admits Extortion, Conspiracy

YORK, Pa. (AP)—A veteran York alderman today faced sentencing Jan. 2 on charges of extortion and conspiracy against persons accused of shoplifting.

Judge George W. Atkins set the date for sentencing after Paul C. Barnhardt entered a plea of no defense in York County Court.

Barnhardt told the court he will resign as alderman, effective Dec. 23 for reasons of health and the press of other business.

Three other men, including a deputy constable and the owner and manager of a local food market, will be tried next week on similar charges. They have pleaded innocent.

Such cabinets, lethal because they're airtight and because their doors can't be opened from the inside, annually snuff out the lives of about a dozen children.

In 1957, 14 children—five boys and nine girls—suffocated in airtight cabinets. In 1956, 11 died, and in 1955, 18.

More than 50 million refrigerators, iceboxes, freezers and other similar airtight cabinets are in use today. At a rate of about a million a year they're being carted to junk piles—or, worse yet, kept in the basement or left in the backyard.

The suffocation of children in discarded cabinets is an especially needless form of accidental death.

Most states have legislation prohibiting abandoning, discarding or storing the death-dealing devices where they can become coffins for children.

A new federal law requires that all household refrigerators shipped after November 1, 1958, be equipped with an inside release latch.

Even that does not insure the safety of children today. It will be many years before the present refrigerators are no longer in use.

Here are some tips on how the cabinets can be made harmless:

1. Remove the door. Even with the latch removed, many freezer cabinets of the chest type have lids too heavy for a trapped child to lift.

2. Remove latch stops so the door can't lock. This you can do, usually, by removing four screws.

3. Drill holes in the cabinet and remove the rubber gasket around the door.

Best of all destroy the box. Parents should insure the safety of their children by knowing where the children are playing, by providing safe places for them to play, and by telling them of the dangers of iceboxes and refrigerators.

SPUD PRICES SLASHED DUE TO HUGE CROP

Potatoes, a staple of the American diet since colonial times, steal the food spotlight this week with prices hammered down by a swelling fall crop.

Government experts look for a crop of about 176½ million hundredweight, or roughly 12 percent above last year and 16 percent above the recent average. The bumper supply steepens the normal seasonal dip in prices.

Americans now eat more than 90 pounds of white potatoes per person every year, with nearly two-thirds of the supply from the fall crop. The yearly total is as much as all other vegetables combined on a poundage basis.

Meat specials in the supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores are carried this weekend. Beef cuts ranging from chuck roasts to steak appear slightly more numerous than pork as meat men await a drop in pork prices due to increased marketing of hogs in recent weeks.

Cut Fryers' Prices
Fryers are down 2 to 6 cents a pound in a few places, but other prices are relatively stable.

Small and medium eggs are the best bet for the housewife planning to whip up an omelet because price margins between the smaller and larger sizes are unusually wide.

Other outstanding vegetable buys this week are cabbage, cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, onions, spinach, Swiss chard, carrots, cooking greens (kollards, kale, etc.) and pumpkins.

Apples are outstanding in the fruit department. Pears from Western orchards also are a good buy, while prices are being shaved on California oranges and lemons.

SAYS GRADS
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—College graduates are really going out into a unique world—thanks to earth satellites.

Addressing the University of Arizona's 1958 graduating class, Dr. Alan T. Waterman, director of the National Science Foundation, noted:

"It is safe to say this year's commencement is the first to be held beneath four different moons—one placed there by nature and three by man."

TV'S KITTY CARLISLE IS HOMEMAKER

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor

Pretty Kitty Carlisle is one actress who has found the ideal solution to the problem of how to juggle her duties as wife, mother, homemaker and headliner.

"A half hour once a week on television keeps my professional, pride in working order," says she, "and the rest of the time I can spend at home."

Kitty is married to playwright-producer-director Moss Hart and has two children, Chris, 10, and Cathy, 8. The Hart family lives in a swank duplex apartment in New York and spends weekends at a beach house in New Jersey.

Hubby Is Boss
"When I married Moss I decided he was a full-time job. But an actress does like to keep her hand in. After our marriage I appeared in a Broadway play he directed, called 'Anniversary Waltz'—my last play."

"Having my husband directing me in a play seemed just like home. He told me what to do and I did it, just as I always do."

Kitty is one of the panel of the TV show, "To Tell the Truth," an arrangement which suits her perfectly, since it requires no rehearsal and depends on the native wit and general knowledge of the panel. Besides—

"So Efficient"
"When you're on television you reach millions of people all over the country, instead of only a few hundred in a theater. It's so efficient."

Life is entirely different when you become a television personality, says Kitty, and it has its own special set of problems.

"You have to be awfully careful not to offend anyone," she explains, "because instead of being a somewhat remote character behind the footlights of a theater, you move right into people's living rooms."

Boy Asks Death Penalty; Jury Gives Him 99 Years

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A boyish looking killer lost his murder trial Friday night. He asked the jury for the penalty of death, but instead got 99 years in prison.

Edward L. Leonard, 28, grimaced when the verdict was read. The jury deliberated eight hours before accepting the defense argument that he is mentally sick.

"I intend to be as good a prisoner as anyone else up there," he said. "But I'm sorry I didn't get the electric chair."

In an hour and a half of total recall testimony he told the jury about two murders and how he tried to make it three. He said he killed, not to rob, but because he thought his victims were homosexuals and he hates homosexuals.

Only his third attempt to kill had robbery as a motive, he said.

Defense psychiatrists said Leonard himself had strong latent homosexual tendencies which his conscious mind violently rejected. When he slew, they said, he was subconsciously committing suicide.

Leonard, formerly of McComb, Miss., was tried for murdering R. G. Bennett, 30, of Memphis, last May 19. He shot him dead in the back with a .45 pistol.

He also gave the jury a full report on the slaying of Glenn L. McMahon, 32, in McMahon's Houston, Tex., home four days later. The prosecution had not mentioned McMahon's death in its case.

Ruritan Club To Elect In November

The regular October meeting of the Hunterstown Ruritan Club was held Friday evening at the Great Conewago Presbyterian Church in Hunterstown, with the ladies of the church serving dinner to the 25 members and guests in attendance.

Reports presented included a reminder by President Francis Sterner of the ham supper scheduled by the club for Saturday, November 1, beginning at 4 p.m. at St. John's Reformed Church parish hall, New Chester, with the proceeds to go into the club's benefit fund. Treasurer Herbert Zepp reported a balance of $106.32. The nominating committee presented a slate of officers for 1959, with the election slated for the November meeting.

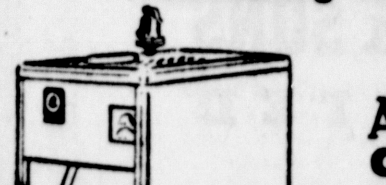

Announcement was made of the annual Ruritan regional convention scheduled for November 1 at Annapolis, Md., with seven delegates to attend.

The club members were taken on an "Hawaiian Tour" with stopovers in San Francisco and Los Angeles, with the help of several hundred color slides and commentary by David Bushman of Ardentsville. Mr. Bushman with Gary Beidler of Biglerville spent 16 days in Hawaii and chronicled the high spots with colored film.

"PLEASE GOD"

Please God, give me the faith I need... to conquer doubt and fear... light my way with Your great love... and fill my life with cheer... please God, instill within my heart... a fragment of Your hope... so I can gain the strength I need... to climb life's rugged slope... I need Your help so very much... without You I am lost... please God, take me by the hand... so I can pay the cost... each day my sorrows multiply... the weight is hard to bear... You and only You can ease... the pressure of my care... on bended knees, I beg of You... please God, show me the way... come into my yearning heart... and there forever stay.

OPEN HOUSE AT

five years of their marriage the Danners resided in the present York St. home of the Codori family. Then on March 7, 1834, Danner purchased the house now the YWCA on Lincoln Square.

Interested In Working Girls
Mr. and Mrs. Danner had ten children, seven reached maturity and five of the seven aided in the eventual establishment of the YWCA here.

Those five were Mrs. Melvin Doll, Mrs. William Hay, Mrs. Charles Reinwald, Miss Eva and Miss Annie Danner.

Miss Anna Rebecca Danner who started and for 50 years served the Infant Department at Trinity United Church of Christ also became interested in the welfare of working girls and gathered them into her home for meetings, thus starting the club which continues to this day in the YWCA under the name of the Annie Danner Club.

Irene Danner, born in 1852, was the "baby" of the family. She wed Rev. Charles Reinwald and they moved to Emmitsburg. When her husband died in 1920 she moved back to Gettysburg to the Danner home, the last surviving member of the family. She died at the home March 28, 1925.

Mrs. Reinwald Was Heir

Because of a feature of the family, the parents and five of the children became the founders—although none but Mrs. Reinwald knew it—of the YWCA. Each member willed his or her property to the remaining members of the family. Thus Mrs. Reinwald became the heir of all of the property of her family. The house itself was willed to remaining members of the family four times until August 21, 1923, when Mrs. Reinwald wrote in her will "I devise and bequeath my house and lot of ground on Center Square, Gettysburg, and all the contents thereof for a Young Women's Christian Association of Gettysburg, Penna."

To this day there is no definite information concerning why Mrs. Reinwald desired that Gettysburg should have a YWCA. She was interested in the Acorn Club, a group of local business women. In 1919 some of the club members, on a trip, stayed at a YWCA. They became interested and sent for a member of the National Committee to talk with them concerning the possibility of a YWCA here. Mrs. Reinwald learned of it she asked to meet the representative and apparently the conversation led to her will—which established the YWCA.

Was "Linden Corner"
The homemade bricks of the Danner house, its dormer windows, the door knocker engraved with the name "J. B. Danner" remain as they were a century or more ago. But one change is made. During the first part of the 20th Century the linden trees in the corner by the Danner house were so prominent that the area was known locally as "Linden Corner," but time, and man, changed that.

The present YWCA is about twice the size of the original Danner house, but the additions have been so in keeping with the original that the home remains to all appearances from the street just as it was when horses were hitched to the posts on the square before it.

While the YWCA came into existence "with a roof over its head" with the formal dedication of the building October 24 the organization that would operate the building and "Y" came into existence two days before, October 22, 1926, when women of the county were invited to attend an organization meeting and sign the constitution.

This lucid, exciting account, the third book by General Stackpole on great battles of the war, is characterized by the same clear writing, competent evaluations, uninvolved descriptions, and fascinating personality appraisals which made his two previous books so popular.

Civil War fans, historians... everyone who enjoys good reading... will welcome this new book. Truly a monumental work, it is abundantly illustrated with photographs with a broad range of carefully developed strategic and tactical maps. The photographs were by Matthew Brady and other great photographers.

"They Met At Gettysburg," General Stackpole's first Civil War book, is now in its third printing.

Implication Of Brother Was Lie

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Cries of "I lied" ended a hearing for a Chester, Pa., burglarly suspect in central police court Friday.

Albert Williams, 30, of Philadelphia, shouted he had lied when he claimed his brother, John, 22, was with him when he robbed a West Philadelphia jeweler last Wednesday.

Magistrate Louis Vignola released John and held Williams and James (Junnie) Payne, 27, of (3rd St.) Chester, without bail for court.

The jeweler identified Williams and Payne as the men who robbed him. Albert had implicated his brother.

"SIBERIA" IS NEEDED HERE

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Habitual criminals should be removed from society and kept segregated, Thomas J. Gibbons, Philadelphia's police commissioner, said Friday.

He made his comments about the crime situation in Philadelphia shortly before police took 70 high school students on a chartered bus into custody.

The students were accused of kicking in panels, ripping out the seats and smashing windows on the bus.

Gibbons said adults and juveniles have been roaming the streets despite long criminal records, causing a condition of criminal violence that has compelled the adoption of extraordinary police tactics.

"The crime situation in Philadelphia is not an exception to that throughout the United States," Gibbons said. "It is so desperate throughout the country and is so apparently impossible of solution that drastic efforts must be made to remove from public life juveniles or adults who demonstrate they cannot conform to social standards."

Philadelphia police have been investigating a series of muggings—several by teen-agers—in the city during this month. Two men died as a result of street beatings.

Motorist Drowns In 7 Feet Of Water

SCHUYLKILL HAVEN, Pa. (AP)—An automobile went through a guard rail Friday night and sped out of control along an embankment before dropping on its roof in the east branch of the Schuylkill River.

The driver, Joseph P. Dailey, 27, a factory worker, drowned. It took a crew an hour to free his body from the wreckage in seven feet of water. The accident happened on Route 122.

PLACED IN CUSTODY

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Louis Lee Cox, 27, of Bath N.C., began serving an indefinite term in the custody of the U.S. attorney general on charges of robbing the Harrisburg National Bank.

Cox used a gun in holding up the bank several weeks ago. He made off with $100, but was caught less than a block from the bank by a policeman.

Judge Frederick V. Folmer said Cox probably will be sent to some type of mental institution.

By W. G. ROGERS

NEW YORK (AP)—In one of the most dramatic and touching concert appearances in our time, cellist Pablo Casals came to the U. N. General Assembly hall Friday to play in celebration of United Nations Day.

The world-renowned musician, who last gave a recital in the United States in 1928, was a feature of the music program held in three countries and broadcast simultaneously to four continents.

The program here began with Charles Munch conducting the Boston Symphony in the Honegger Fifth Symphony, a work composed in Paris and premiered in Boston in 1951.

The distinguished U. N. audience of more than 2,000, with standees packed in every available space and an unprecedented number of ticket requests refused for lack of room, rose to greet the Catalan-born master cellist when he appeared on stage.

It rose again to cheer his performance of Bach's Sonata No. 2 in D major. It rose still again when, for an encore, he played a Catalan folksong, as poignant and touching as a prayer.

The cellist, who was accompanied at the piano by Mieczyslaw Horszowski, is 81. He produced heart-warming sounds which no one else in his day has managed to wrest from this recalcitrant instrument.

UNION LOSES COURT APPEAL

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Picketing to force employers to agree to a closed union shop is unlawful, the State Supreme Court has ruled.

The court Friday ordered picketing stopped in a decision affecting the construction of an elementary school in West Penn Township.

The judges, by a 4-2 decision, agreed picketing to force workers to join a union was "highly detrimental and inexcusable."

The decision reversed a Schuylkill County Common Pleas Court ruling. Justice John C. Bell directed that the lower court hold more hearings and issue a final decree in 40 days.

The township school district and three employers asked for an injunction halting the picketing at the site of the school.

The building, scheduled for completion last February, is one-third finished.

Bell wrote, "the picketing has caused very substantial loss of time, money and material and was highly detrimental to the welfare of the children."

Justices Michael A. Musmanno and Herbert B. Cohen dissented.

Number Of Cows In Dairy The Herd Is Not An Indication Of Profit From Enterprise

By FRANK S. ZETTEL
Adams County Farm Agent

The number of cows in the dairy herd is not always an indication of the profit you get from a dairy enterprise. The production per cow is a much better measure of production efficiency.

A recent analysis of DHIA records shows that cows producing 300 pounds butterfat per year return the owner only twenty dollars a year profit after expenses . . . but a 500 pounds producer may return 132 dollars profit for the year. Actually, the number of cows needed to pay expenses other than feed cost is determined by the level of production. To give a $5,000 return over feed cost, it would take 33 cows producing 250 pounds of fat, where only 13 cows producing 500 pounds of fat would give the same $5,000 return.

Herd Is Expanding

Dairy herds are expanding in size, but the number of cows cannot be increased at the expense of production per cow . . . or you'd just get no gain in your income. In many herds, the number of cows could be reduced . . . and with better feed and care the remaining cows will return more profit to the owner. It's quality, not quantity that makes a profitable dairy herd.

Fail is the time of year when most evergreens carry out "operation needle drop." The pines, spruces and others drop one year's growth of needles during September and October. In Scotch pines the 3-year-old needle turn yellowish and then fall off. The red pine usually drops its 4-year-old needles, while white pine normally keeps only 1 or 2 years' growth of needles.

Green Needle At End

The needles which are lost are those nearest the center of the tree. The younger, green needles are at the ends of the branches.

While this shedding operation is in progress the trees often appear to be dead or dying. However, as soon as a hard wind or heavy rain occur the old needles are knocked to the ground and the tree again appears normal.

Unusual summer seasons of drought or heavy rains may upset this natural process and cause more than the normal number of needles to drop. In these cases if the tree keeps the current year's needles in a green healthy condition, the tree will continue to grow next year.

Breeding Important

Egg production of a flock of pullets is very definitely affected by the breeding behind the birds. There were 33 flocks of pullets entered in the eighth New York Random Sample Test. These birds were all raised, fed and housed under similar conditions. The only thing different was their breeding. Egg production per pullet housed by flocks ranged from a low of 173.9 eggs per bird to a high of 251.7 eggs, a difference of 77.8 eggs per pullet housed. The average of all flocks was 214.3 eggs per pullet.

Feed consumption varied from 4.3 pounds to 5.5 pounds per dozen eggs. The average for the entire contest was 4.7 pounds per dozen. The difference between the most efficient and least efficient flock was 8 pound of feed per dozen eggs. This would make a difference in cost of several cents a dozen. Feed consumption per dozen eggs is affected by rate of lay, mortality, size of birds and other breeding factors.

Size Is Breeding Factor

Size of egg is another breeding factor for poultrymen to consider when ordering baby chicks. In the New York test one flock produced 31.7 per cent of their eggs in the medium and smaller sizes, while another had only 18.3 per cent of their eggs in the same size groups.

AP Newsfeatures Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. — The nursery truck made two deliveries this year to a new real estate development abounding not far from here. The houses, which are not cheap ones, show the uniformity one senses in spite of the various colored paint jobs and slight rearrangements of floor plans from split-level to ranch. But after the spring delivery of the nursery, the houses looked more peas-in-a-pod than ever: each house sported a young dogwood spang in the middle of the front lawn, and four small azaleas, meticulously spaced, on either side of the front door. This fall, the truck makes its rounds again, dealing out small balled and burlapped trees and shrubs like cards to poke players: two pyramidal arborvitae (for the corners), two mugho pines (foundation planting, under windows), two pfitzer junipers, one Norway spruce, one Colorado blue spruce, two Japanese yews and two pin oaks to each plot.

Highly Impractical

And into the ground they will go, according to plan — the same plan, whether the house faces south or north, whether the ground is rocky and graded or flat and filled. The effect, of course, is neat, tidy and impressive — the way the precision of a drill team or a chorus row of kickers is impressive.

The average for the contest was 32.6 per cent of the eggs in the medium and smaller sizes.

Mortality in the flocks varied considerably. The number of pullet chicks started per flock varied from 52 chicks to 57. The difference in number of chicks was caused by a variation in hatchability. The mortality in flocks varied from 2 per cent to 42.5 per cent with an average of 14 per cent for the period from 7 days to 500 days.

Egg size, shape, color and interior quality are also affected by breeding, and poultrymen are urged to take these factors into consideration when ordering chicks.

But while production-line planting is practical for a real estate developer, production-line living is highly impractical for most families. Few of us would settle for a house furnished, piece for piece, like that of our next door neighbor. In the first place, it would be impractical: the folks next door have two small children and use one bedroom for a playroom; you have three teen-age children and need the bedroom for a bedroom.

Needs, Tastes Differ

The same is true of one's landscaping. Family needs and family tastes differ. You may have a passion for backyard living; the family next door may prefer to put all their planting where it will enchant the passerby. The location of your house or the condition of your soil may require one type of plant material while the house just across the street may have other needs.

The impulse of most of us is to augment our basic newhouse planting by making a trip to our local nursery and picking up a few evergreens and maybe some flowering trees and shrubs — to be chosen at the nursery on the basis of their price and appearance. Nothing could be less far-sighted or extravagant. This is, true enough, the best time of the year for planting evergreens, followed by most deciduous trees and shrubs. But, as in every other phase of gardening, purchases should come after planning is finished.

Plan Ahead

Decide ahead of time what you need and what you want from your land. That spot outside the picture window, for instance. Would it be best set up as a play spot for the children — within eyeshot from inside the house — or can it be made into a handsome garden spot, complete with formal rose garden, bird bath and a background of flowering shrub?

Do you want the privacy of a living screen of hedge, shrubs and trees rimming your land? Or do you want to cut it up into special areas for special purposes — an open stretch of lawn visible from the street, with a play area neighbors' eyes? These are just a few of the considerations to be thought over and talked over before making that trip or getting out the spade.

For many years now, textured stone has been used on exterior walls to give an opulent, custom-built air to "look alike" architectural designs.

By the use of such stones in muted colors and variegated shapes, it has been possible to give distinctive touches to the various houses in a development. Individual owners also have used textured stone over the original outside walls to add elegance to their homes.

Today, the wide range of textures and colors in quarried stone, available in pre-cut sizes and designs, has made it possible to bring this "custom" look indoors. Flagstone is only one of a wide variety of stones which give texture and design interest to flooring, reduce maintenance problems to a minimum and eliminate the need for eventual replacement. New flooring favorites with modern decorators include blue stone, quartzite, slate, marble, granite, limestone, travertine and sandstone. Any of these stones, as well as flagstone, can transform a conventional foyer floor into something to be admired as well as walked on.

Modern Stone Veneers

The versatility of modern stone veneers also gives the home owner a wide range of opportunity through a fireplace. There are a number of fireplace designs available at local stoneyards in pre-cut kits, planned to make installation easy for the do-it-yourselfers.

Decorative wall designs entirely of stone, keyed to blend with strongly textured woods and fabrics, are in high favor with modern decorators. Stone colors ranging from smoky gray and charcoal to gold, pink, russet and blue can be chosen to blend or contrast dramatically with any color scheme.

Ready-mixed cement and a trowel are all the equipment needed to set textured stone permanently in place.

STONE COMES INDOORS: Slate in a random pattern gives distinction to this otherwise conventional foyer. Slate, flagstone, blue stone, quartzite, limestone, travertine and sandstone, as well as classic marble, are being widely used for indoor decorative effects.

FARM CALENDAR

Pullets On Range — How late pullets can stay on range depends on several factors, says F. H. Leuschner, Penn State extension poultry specialist. These are weather conditions, quality of the range pasture, how the pullets are developing, and housing capacity. The birds must have comfort and nutrition.

Pick Carefully — Careless picking can seriously cut down on the quality of apples going to market, reminds John Ruef, Penn State extension pomologist. To prevent heavy losses from bruising, he suggests use of rigid picking buckets and cautioning pickers before they start on the harvest job.

Elderberries Used — More than a half-million pounds of elderberries have been used by a single Pennsylvania concern each year, reports Marshall Ritter, pomologist at the Penn

Voters In Upper Adams Will Decide November 4 On Merger Of Districts

Voters in six school districts—Arendtsville, Biglerville and Bendersville boroughs and Butler, Menallen and Tyrone Twp.—will decide November 4 whether their local school district shall be merged with the others.

The six districts are now members of the Upper Adams Joint School System. Merging of the districts, if approved, will have little effect on the physical phase of school operation, but it will affect the financial picture and simplify the administration of the system. Borough and township governments are not affected.

The merger will have these results:

The proportion of school expense which is borne by the state will be increased. This, in Upper Adams, has been estimated to be about $12,000 per year, based on the 1958-59 school budget.

The present districts will lose their identities, but each district will be assured of representation on the merged board. Eventually the membership of the merged board will be seven, one member being elected from each of the six present districts and one member being elected from the entire merged district. Initially the merged board will have the 30 present school directors as members but membership will be reduced as terms of these members expire.

Save Salaries

The need for 12 salaried officers will be eliminated. At present, under the joint system, each board operates individually with a complete set of officers, including a secretary and treasurer, both salaried. In addition, there are a secretary and treasurer of the joint board. Only one secretary and one treasurer will be required by the merged board. Not only will the 12 salaries be saved, but also the cost of bonds for these officers and the cost, in terms of office work, of preparing six sets of reports required by the state.

School taxes for the merged district will be uniform. The merged board will set the tax rate. Collection will be by local tax collectors as at present.

All six districts will be merged into a single school district if a majority of those voting in each district approve the merger. Should the merger proposal fail to get a majority in any district, that district will not become a part of the merged district.

A merged district will come into existence if two or more districts give approval to the proposition. Only those districts voting favorably will benefit from the larger state appropriations and expense savings that the merger will provide.

Will Merge Assets

The merged district will assume all of the obligations of the present joint district and of the individual boards. Properties and other assets of the several districts will become the property of the merged district.

The only school buildings now belonging to the districts are the high school building at Arendtsville and the junior high building and shops in Biglerville. The other schools are owned by the Biglerville Municipal Authority and are leased to the joint school district. When rental payments have retired the authority bonds, the schools will become the property of the joint or merged district, whichever is then existing.

If one or more of the present districts turn down the merger proposal, but if a merger comes into existence between two or more districts, the jointure will continue to exist. The merged district will be a party to the jointure agreement along with any district which does not approve the merger.

Boards For It

The 30 school directors in the joint system have expressed unanimous approval of the merger plan which also has the endorsement of the Adams County School Board.

The joint board is campaigning for a favorable vote and has issued a brochure, distributed to voters in the districts, outlining the advantages of the merger. School officials have also been appearing at public meetings to explain the merger proposition and to answer questions raised by citizens.

Although the Upper Adams merger proposition is the first in Adams County, mergers are not new in neighboring areas. The first formed in York County was voted in November, 1951. A number of other mergers have since been formed in that county and voters in the districts in two other jointures there will decide on merging in the general election next month. One of these is the Northern Joint School District, comprising Dillsburg and surrounding districts.

POPES HAVE BEEN ITALIAN FOR 400 YEARS

By TOM HENSHAW

AP Religion Writer

Chances are the solemn Vatican conclave that opens today will wind up in a day or two with the selection of an Italian cardinal as the new Pope.

It doesn't have to be that way. Canon law places remarkably few restrictions on the election of a spiritual head for the Roman Catholic Church. He need only be a male Catholic who has reached the age of reason unsullied by heresy or schism.

Informal Rules Strict

The informal rules, however, are strict.

There has not been a non-Italian pope in more than four centuries, not since the Dutch-born Adrian VI ascended the papal throne in 1522 for a reign that lasted little more than a year.

The last noncardinal to be chosen was the unfortunate Urban VI, whose election in 1378 was declared invalid three months later by the cardinals who elected him. They claimed they voted under duress.

Were Rival Claimants

The revocation opened what is known as the Western Schism when, for 39 years, Western Christendom was confused by the presence of two—and at one point three—rival claimants to the papacy.

There even have been laymen popes, the last of whom apparently was St. Celestine V, an ascetic lay monk elected in 1294. He resigned after five months when he found himself ill-equipped to handle the office.

It is generally agreed among Catholics that the Pope to be elected in the next few days will be the 262nd successor to St. Peter, founder of the Roman Church. But no one can make the statement with absolute certainty.

It All Depends

It depends on how you count Stephen II, who was elected on March 23, 752, and died two days later before his ordination. In those days the pope's reign was dated from ordination. Now it starts with election.

It also depends on how you count Benedict IX, who was elected in 1033 at the age of 12, deposed in 1044, reinstated the following year, removed again after a 20-day reign, and installed a third time in 1047.

Joseph Marinielli, who is 74, rode a bicycle from Bloomfield, N. J., to Miami, Fla.

PUSH RESCUE OF 81 MINERS

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (AP)—Rescue teams inched today down a debris-choked mine shaft heavy with poisonous gas toward 81 men trapped and possibly killed by an explosive shift of rock. Twelve others are known dead.

A mine official said there was a very remote hope that some of the trapped miners might be found alive but nothing had been heard since the accident Thursday night to indicate there were more survivors.

Eighty-one other men got out alive after the unexplained earth shift, the most severe in memory in North America's deepest coal mine. Fifteen of the survivors were injured.

Ten Bodies Recovered
Ten bodies have been recovered. One official said two more bodies had been spotted by rescue crews and would be brought up later.

Harold Gordon, coal chief for the mine owners, spent hours in the mine shaft and then told newsmen:

"There is a remote hope—very remote—that some men will be alive at the bottom end and the top end of the 13,000-foot level." He said the basis for this hope was an indication that conditions at the two ends were not so bad as elsewhere in the mine.

Asked if there had been any contact with missing miners that would indicate survivors, Gordon replied: "None."

FAVOR ARMY DESPITE TWO BAD INJURIES

By ED CORRIGAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

A paltry eight major college football teams remained undefeated and untied as the season arrived at the halfway point today and the list could be cut even more by Sunday.

In the big one, Army risks its clean record against tough Pitt, a club that has high hopes of winning eastern honors. Ordinarily, Army, No. 1 team in the country in the current Associated Press poll, would be a heavy favorite.

But fullback Harry Walters was out completely and Capt. Pete Dawkins was down for limited service if any. Still Army remains a slight favorite.

Pick Iowa To Win
Among the unbeaten, the dubious distinction of being the most likely to fall went to Northwestern the sophomore-studded cinderella team of the Big 10. The Wildcats

FARM CALENDAR

Farming Changes—Our changing agriculture has brought about many new alterations in the farmers' way of life, says Wayne Kelly, Penn State extension farm management specialist. The changes include the crops he raises, the breeds and number of animals on the farm, the places he sells, and his marketing methods.

Turkeys Then and Now—Wild turkeys were abundant in America long before the arrival of the first white settlers. Carl Dossin, Penn State extension poultry specialist, points out that the domesticated turkey is much larger and better fleshed than his wild cousin. This is the result of breeding, feeding, and management.

Fine Livestock in Show—Almost 3,000 of the finest meat animals in North America have been entered in the 1958 Pennsylvania National Livestock Exposition, reminds Thomas King, Penn State extension livestock specialist. This second annual event will be held in the State Farm Show Building, Harrisburg, November 10-14.

Quality Counts—The number of cows in the dairy herd is not always an indication of profit. Herbert Gilmore, Penn State extension dairy specialist, reminds that production per cow is a much better measure of production efficiency.

Manure Is Valuable—Barnyard manure is a good fertilizer, but to make it better reinforce it with superphosphate, 2 pounds per cow per day or 50 pounds per ton or manure, recommends Wayne Hinish, Penn State extension agronomist.

Day for Youth—Pennsylvania's 40,000 club member and 4,500 adult leaders will observe their annual achievement day on Saturday, November 8, with various public activities.

Florida, Mississippi went against Arkansas, Colorado took on Nebraska and Rutgers played Lehigh. All were heavy favorites.

Oklahoma tangled with Kansas State, while California had a date with Oregon. Princeton clashed with Cornell, and Auburn will try to regain some prestige against Maryland.

have been rampaging through their opposition like wildcats, but Iowa, today's opponent, appeared too strong.

Ohio State, the defending champion and the big stumbling block in both Iowa's and Northwestern's Big 10 title hopes, has no easy task against Wisconsin.

Notre Dame and Navy, as well as Army and Ohio State have infirmity lists calculated to give their coaches sleepless nights.

The Irish were just a one-point pick over Purdue. Navy had a whole fistful of injuries but was expected to have no particular problem against Penn.

Other Battles
In addition to Army, Ohio State and Northwestern, the other unbeaten-untied were Texas, Louisiana State, Mississippi, Colorado and Rutgers.

Of these, Texas appeared to have the most difficult assignment. The Longhorns were less than a touchdown favorite over Rice in a night game. Louisiana State was at home to

RUSSIA WILL SUPPLY DAM MONEY TO UAR

By EDWIN SHANKE

CAIRO (AP) — The Soviet Union has agreed to lend the United Arab Republic 400 million rubles worth of materials and equipment to start Gamal Abdel Nasser's dream dam at Aswan on the Nile.

The credit, amounting to 100 million dollars by Soviet reckoning, was seen by some diplomats here today as the clincher in Moscow's economic penetration of the Middle East. It may mean Nasser has finally turned his back on the West, giving up any idea of serious economic cooperation or reconciliation with Western powers.

The United States, Britain and the World Bank three years ago had offered to lend Egypt 270 million dollars for the $1,300,000,000 dam in southern Egypt. Secretary of State Dulles abruptly withdrew the offer a year later after Egypt started buying arms from the Soviet bloc. Nasser in retaliation nationalized the Suez Canal.

Not All Hurdles Cleared
The Soviet credit, announced by Premier Khrushchev in Moscow Thursday night, does not mean that the last hurdle to the starting of work on the vast project has been cleared.

The proposed dam 600 miles south of Cairo would flood miles of territory across the border in Sudan and would displace at least 50,000 Sudanese. The Sudan government, through whose territory the Nile flows before it reaches Egypt, has not agreed to this new use of the waters, and Sudan has a plan of its own for a system of dams farther south to develop thousands of acres of cotton land.

If Egypt goes ahead with the Aswan project without Sudan's consent, a new international crisis could be touched off.

A Turn In Policy
The Soviet credit marks a turn in policy by both Nasser and Khrushchev. Before the Western powers canceled their offer of financing the Soviet Union was reported to have offered to help build the dam. Later the Russians announced they were not interested, preferring to help with projects which would show more immediate results.

When he nationalized the Suez Canal, Nasser declared Egypt would build the dam from her own resources and would use the revenue from the canal for the necessary foreign exchange.

The dam would be 300 feet high, three miles long and would create the world's largest man-made lake. It would irrigate 1,400,000 parched acres, increasing Egypt's

PROBE MINE CAVE-IN THAT KILLED 3 MEN

SHIPPINGPORT, Pa. (AP) — Officials are investigating the cave-in of a section of a mine roof that killed three men.

The victims were crushed to death by tons of rock Thursday. They were Jack Call, 18, son of John Call, operator of the mine; Dale Haskiell, 26, of Monaca Heights; and his brother, Frank Ellwood Haskiell, 28, of New Brighton.

The Haskiell brothers only recently moved to Pennsylvania. They formerly resided in Newburg, W. Va.

The mine, recently reopened, is located just outside Shippingport, site of the nation's first commercial atomic power plant.

John Call discovered the cave-in about noon Thursday. He had returned to the mine after making coal deliveries.

A 40-man rescue party recovered two bodies about five hours later about 100 feet from the entrance. A third body was removed about 2½ hours later.

Paul Rohr, foreman of the nearby Dow-Lin Coal Co. Mine who led the rescue party, said the roof fell into an opening where the men were working.

DEATHS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles S. Longacre, 86, former world official of the Seventh Day Adventists Church, died Thursday after an operation for removal of a tumor. He served for more than 30 years as director of the World Religious Liberty Assn. of Seventh Day Adventists. He was born in Valley Forge, Pa.

LAKE ODESSA, Mich. (AP) — Earl R. Chapman, 72, prominent newspaper figure in three Michigan cities over a 36-year span, died Wednesday of a heart attack. He was manager of the Grand Rapids Press from 1947 until his retirement in 1953 and formerly had been manager of the Flint Journal and business manager of the Kalamazoo Gazette.

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — Tillie Baldwin, 70, famed cowgirl of the 1920s, died Thursday of a heart ailment. She toured Western rodeos and won trophies in broncho, trick and Roman riding and relay racing. Her full name was Anna Matilda Winger Slate.

NEW YORK (AP) — Louis E. Whicher, 93, once the owner of what may have been the richest gold mine in North America, died Wednesday. Whicher in 1944 acquired the Candelaria gold mine in Mexico's Sierra Madre country for $1,255,000. It was said to have had an output at one time of gold ore worth more than a million dollars a year. He was born in Vienna, Austria.

GUN SCHOOL BY SPORTS GROUP

KANE, Pa. (AP) — A group of outdoorsmen who love to hunt in this rugged hill country are doing something to see that hunters come back alive.

For the past five years they have sponsored a gun school to teach young enthusiasts how to hunt safely.

The big Kane Fish & Game Club and the YMCA here recently conducted the fifth annual gun school to prepare boys and girls for the small game season which opens Saturday and the deer and bear seasons that follow.

The instruction begins with four classroom-type sessions. An examination follows on what the pupils have learned. Finally, a field session is held in which the pupils fire the weapons they've been told about.

They get to handle the rifle or shotgun of their choice and get practice in crossing fences while holding the weapon.

Develop Surgery To Treat Some Kinds Of Strokes

By RENNIE TAYLOR

Associated Press Science Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An operation described by its originators as offering a way of successfully treating some kinds of stroke was reported Friday.

Stroke is a paralysis of some body function such as sight, speech or movement. It is due to the stoppage of the blood supply to a certain part of the brain, usually because of a clot. When it hits the part of the brain governing breathing, the result is often fatal.

Medical science up to now has been able to achieve little toward undoing the damage by stroke and the outlook for curative treatment has been a dismal one, the sponsors of the new operation said.

But a large percentage of the clots occurs in arteries in the neck leading to the brain, not to little arteries in the brain itself. These trouble spots in the neck can be reached handily by surgery, they said.

Results of 67 of these neck operations on 50 patients were reported to the American Heart Assn. by a surgical team from Baylor University, Houston, Tex. The team was made up of Dr. E. Stanley Crawford, who reported the results, D. Michael E. Deakey, Dr. Denton A. Cooley and D. George C. Morris Jr.

X-ray studies showed the clots in these 50 cases to be located in blood vessels of the neck or upper torso. The treatment was to remove the blocking material surgically.

Normal circulation was restored to a majority of the patients, Dr. Crawford said, with the return of the lost functioning.

SAYS PASTOR NEEDS TO BE A 'GOOD JOE'

YORK, Pa. (AP) — A Methodist minister from the South says his experiences show that being a "good Joe" is one of the most important things for ministers in small communities.

"Newcomers are apt to ask first if the local minister is a good Joe and ask second about what denomination the church is," the Rev. James E. Hankins told some 800 delegates at the closing session Thursday of the National Convocation on Town and Country Churches.

The Rogersville, Tenn., minister said, however, that a great influx of textile workers and Atomic Energy Commission employees into the South was causing a demand for more denominations.

Lack Of Cooperation
In another development, the Rev. Dr. Truman B. Douglass, head of the Board of Home Missions of the National Council of Churches, cited a lack of cooperation among some Protestant denominations.

"These churches cooperate when it's a matter of fighting bingo, betting and booze but no further than that," he said.

The three-day convocation sponsored by the National Council closed with a series of seminars at which ministers' salaries, church cooperation and denominational makeups were discussed.

The Rev. Dr. Richard O. Com-fort, New York City, resigned as executive director of the town and country churches division to become general secretary of the village church in Pakistan and other new lands.

CHURCH DEAN FAVORS EASIER READING TEXTS

YORK, Pa. (AP) — Some rural churches would be better served if their reading matter was reduced to one-syllable words, an Episcopal dean said Friday.

"A standard Episcopal Church prayer book is rather difficult for some people in the hills to grasp," said the Very Rev. Dr. W. Ross Bailey.

"The problem is to reduce religious material to words of one syllable."

Dr. Bailey, who is dean of the Southern Convocation of the Episcopal Diocese of West Virginia, gave this advice while discussing the special problems of churches in railroad and coal communities, and hill towns.

He spoke at the annual three-day meeting of the national convocation of churches of town and country. It ends today.

In a plea for more attention to the non-agricultural rural areas, Dr. Bailey said:

New Slum Areas
"One of the things that we have to point out to the city people is that coal mining is a one industry area. When it shuts down, it ruins the economy of the whole place, including the shopkeepers and everyone else."

The Rev. Dr. Richard O. Com-fort of the National Council of Churches, in a speech Wednesday, said organized religion must do something about a new problem—suburban slum areas.

"These slum areas in the suburbs," he said, "are populated by people from crowded cities who moved to the suburbs in hope of finding better living conditions and a chance to spread out."

"They have moved into tar paper shacks and worn out farm buildings and actually have created slums in the suburbs."

"We must establish small churches to give these people religious help and also to help them economically as much as we can."

On March 21 and September 22, day and night are of equal duration in every part of the world.

Predict Steady Upturn To Benefit All Major Lines Of Business Is Predicted

By WALTER BREEDE JR.
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — No runaway boom in sight, but a steady upturn that should benefit all major lines of business...

That's what leaders of industry and finance were predicting this week as economic indicators pointed higher.

A hesitant stock market took some of the edge off the unbounded optimism that had ruled in many quarters. Forecasts of a new round of tight money also had a sobering effect.

But there was no denying that the fall recovery still packed plenty of power.

Steel production cracked the two-million-ton barrier for the second week in a row; paper-board production — 314,445 tons — set a record. Railroad freight car-loadings were the best so far this year. Department store sales scored a six per cent gain over 1957.

Labor Troubles
Labor troubles at a handful of plants still hobbled the auto industry but Detroit, anxious to make up for lost time, was ready to step on the gas. Auto retailers chewed their nails, waiting for delivery of 1959 models. It was like old times in the auto showrooms — more customers than cars.

Betting heavily on an upturn was the giant Pennsylvania Railroad. The railroad maintained its record of unbroken dividend payments intact, declaring a dividend for the 111th consecutive year despite a nine-month loss of more than 64 million dollars. James M. Symes, president, said the Pennsy directors were guided in their decision by the improved business outlook.

Oil Business Up
Two of the nation's biggest oil companies also reported signs of improving business. Standard Oil Co. (N.J.) and Socony Mobil Oil Co. each reported nine-month earnings down sharply (30 per cent for Jersey and 34 per cent for Socony) from a year ago. Each, however, boasted a solid gain over the two prior quarters for the July-August-September period.

The companies had a ready explanation for the decline in earnings from last year: they sold more oil products, including gasoline, but at lower prices.

Prices made other news this week. The government announced that its consumer price index, which is supposed to measure what it costs you to live, failed to show an increase last month. This in itself is news, because the index until August had climbed steadily for two years.

Will Edge Up
It has failed to go up now for two months straight. Best guess in government circles is that the index may edge up a bit in October and then hold steady for the next six months. In explaining how it arrived at its September index (123.7 per cent of the 1947-49 average) the government said increases in the cost of clothing, transportation and medical care were offset by lower food prices.

While living costs are up about 2.1 per cent on average from a year ago, buying power of the U. S. factory worker has more than kept pace. That's because his wages have climbed faster than the consumer price index.

As government economists figure it, average take-home pay of the U. S. factory worker set a record high last month. For a man with three dependents it was $77.25 a week — after federal income and Social Security taxes.

Stock sales in the latest week totaled 19,463,614 shares compared to 24,402,570 shares in the previous week and 20,804,199 in the corresponding week last year.

Bond sales had a par value of $26,081,500 in the latest week compared to $33,025,000 for the week before and $33,989,000 in the same 1957 week.

Briefly over the business scene: Ford Motor Co. produced a brand new Model T this week. Ford says the 22-horsepower job, an exact replica of the twin-lever "Tin Lizzie" of 1909, has an antique value of about $5,000. . . . Officials of the Popular Price Shoe Show of America (PPSSA) predict Americans will buy four billion dollars worth of shoes, sandals, sneakers, rubbers and boots next year — a new record. The estimate includes 600 million pairs of shoes and 70 million pairs of rubber and rubber canvas footwear. . . . Corporate dividend payments in September were down only two per cent from a year ago. . . . Schenley Industries Inc. declared four stock dividends this week of five per cent each.

STICK IN THE MUD
WESTBROOK, Conn. (AP) — Police said a 67-year-old man got waist-high into trouble when he attempted to step from a dock to a boat.

He slipped, and plunged into mud up to his belt. There he stayed for two hours. Passersby finally noticed him and dragged him out.

AT BOTH EXTREMES
SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Here's a guy working both sides of the street. His classified ad read:

"Private Detective, shadowing, suspicions verified. Also marriage counselor."

World Briefs

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — The headquarters of the Baghdad Pact are moving to Ankara for the time being because of the Iraqi revolutionary government's coolness to the Western-sponsored alliance.

If Iraq decides to remain in the anti-Soviet alliance, the headquarters will be moved back to Baghdad, Turkish Foreign Ministry circles said. To date the new Iraqi regime has neither cooperated in the pact nor said it would pull out.

MONTREAL (AP) — New weapons now available to the North American Air Defense Command may be effective against the inter-continental ballistic missile, Canadian Air Marshal C. R. Slemon said in a speech Thursday night.

Slemon, deputy commander of NORAD at Colorado Springs, Colo., said the new weapons were the MBI atom-headed air-to-air missile carried by interceptor aircraft, and atomic warheads for some ground-to-air missiles.

HONG KONG (AP) — Three Britons and a Chinese, captured by Chinese Communists two months ago while on a weekend pleasure cruise in a converted lifeboat, were returned without advance notice today.

The men were R. P. Brown, L. E. Jones, N. McQueen and Chu Yiu-kin. The Communists had notified the British charge d'affaires in Peking that the men were being detained 12 days after they disappeared Aug. 22 during a cruise in Hong Kong waters. The reason for their detention was not announced.

HAVANA (AP) — A U.S. Navy transport sailed from Guantanamo Bay Friday to evacuate about 55 American women and children from an area of eastern Cuba controlled by Fidel Castro's rebels.

The State Department ordered the evacuation. One official said, "We're damned sick and tired of having Americans kidnapped."

The 55 dependents will be removed from Nicaragua, where about 25 American men work at a nickel plant owned by the U.S. government.

The rebels kidnapped two American men and seven Cubans Monday from a Texaco refinery near Santiago, capital of Oriente Province. They were released Thursday.

DISCONTINUE TRAINS

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Reading Co. will discontinue three passenger trains Sunday because of lack of patronage.

The railroad announced Wednesday it will discontinue two trains between Pottsville, Reading and Philadelphia, and one between Bethlehem and Philadelphia. They all run on Sundays and holidays.
